Britain Braced for National Coal Strike

TRIPLE ALLIANCE TIES UP NATION IN INDUSTRIAL CRISIS

ALL EFFORTS BY LLOYD GEORGE FOR MEDIATION IN DISPUTE FAIL.

BALKED BY MINERS

Refuse to Attend Conference Because of Demand That Pumptown Go to Work.

London.—Great Britain Friday appeared face to face with an industrial crisis of unprecedented proportions. The National Union of Railwaymen and the Federation of Transport Workers have decided to strike in support of British miners, who have been out since early this week.

The intention of the British government to issue an appeal for volunteers for the transport and other essential services was announced in the house of commons late Friday by Mr. Lloyd George the prime minister. A royal proclamation would call up the army and navy reserves.

The government also intends to enroll special constables and form a special emergency force for a period of 10 days. The police are the execution of their duty, the prime minister added.

Miners Refuse Conference

All efforts by Mr. Lloyd George to bring the miners and the mine owners together to discuss the differences which led to the strike in the coal fields, having failed, the miners' executives went into conference Friday afternoon with their partners in the triple alliance—the transport workers and the railwaymen—to decide when the members of the allied organizations should be called out in a sympathetic strike.

Hope of Conference Lost

Hope that the miners and the owners of coal pits might meet the government officials to discuss means of settling the strike were apparently blasted shortly after noon, when it was announced the miners had refused to meet their employers.

The miners' refusal was because of the stipulation that the return of the pumpmen and engineers to work should be the first condition of the conference. The miners' position was that the meeting should be entirely free from restrictions on the discussions.

The triple alliance, which has now taken over command of labor's side of the controversy, has a membership of 800,000 miners, 300,000 railwaymen and 250,000 transport workers.

Younger Men Lead Strike

The leadership of the strike will be in the hands of the younger men who are about the present situation in the belief that the reduction of wages which the miners were asked to accept would also be forced upon the other workers should the miners' strike fail.

The mine owners were in waiting throughout the day to meet the miners, and they were still at the Board of Trade when the news of the break reached them.

Opposition in Banks

Considerable opposition to the strike among the bank and office employees appeared. The Liverpool union telegraphed to J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the railwaymen's union, declaring the Liverpool men would not strike until a bullet of the British coal strike, in a resolution before the executive committee of the Federated Trades and Labor Council.

Marine—The railroad cutting house at Galesburg, Wis., was destroyed by fire Tuesday, causing a loss of $15,000.

WISCONSIN GIRL TO WED RESCUER

Gertrude M. Galla.

Marriage intentions of Gertrude M. Galla, daughter of a wealthy paper mill owner at Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., and Mounted Patrolman William J. Lamb of the Back Bay police station were filed in Boston, recently. They met a year ago in the Fenway when the young woman's stamper broke and the horse she was riding ran away. Miss Galla was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1917.

IN TOUCH WITH THE WHOLE WORLD EVERY EVENING

It will be noticed by the reader of the Gazette that the serial now being printed on the paper for women is as clean as all the other writings of Marion Lubin. Miss Lubin does not lack the item of interest in her stories. They are intensely so. One of the scores of stories presented to the Gazette for publication the "Girl Who Had No Change" was selected.

The Daily Gazette is a complete newspaper since it appeals to every member of the family. Up to the moment of going to press the telegraph wire is busy with the news of the world, one of the biggest things in the world events is the strike of the British miners. With the difference in time between London and Janesville, the Gazette is able to present the news of the whole day up to six o'clock in England. The Gazette has a complete wire service from the state capital at Madison. All the news of the world comes to the Gazette's readers hot from the wire. Supplementing this has been the general news of the world complete and thorough.

Saturday there will be the usual added feature. Plenty of illustrations from the Gazette's picture news service. The closing chapter of the Confessions of a Matrimonial Agent will appear Saturday. Next Saturday will begin a new story just purchased, "The Spoils of the Strong," by Eleanor Talbot Kilduff. The Gazette has purchased the serial rights for this story from its author and it will appear exclusively in Southern Wisconsin in the Gazette.

Are you reading "Autobography" by Dr. William Brady in the Gazette each Monday? It should be read by every mother and father.

The bird contest should not be overlooked. The boys and girls should be taught about the birds. They are the best friends of man and the color contest is directed at the spread of both interest in the birds of the state and nation. Get the son and daughter interested.

Bradford's Wool Trade With America Boomed

Bradford, England.—Efforts by United States traders to anticipate the proposed tariff on wool and wool products have boomed the trade of Bradford with America. The value of the exports from Bradford to the United States during the month of February was $284,242 as compared with $28,000 in January.

Lake Shippers Confer on Changes in Seamen's Act

Detroit.—Representatives of lake vessel owners, commercial bodies and industries in the lake region opened a conference here Friday, called for the purpose of drafting recommendations to congress for changes in the La Follette seamen's law. This law, speakers declared, must be modified or lake shipping would virtually cease.

PROHIBITION FIGHT FOR MATHESON BILL STARTED IN SENATE

STATE AFFAIRS COMMITTEE REPORTS SUB-AMENDMENT TO MEASURE.

SUPPORT OF WETS

Anti-Saloon League Lobbyists to Force Defeat of Changes.

Madison.—The prohibition fight in the legislature went to the floor of the senate Friday morning when the state affairs committee reported a sub-amendment to the Matheson bill. The state affairs committee, headed by Senator Henry E. Roebuck, chairman of the committee, was recorded against the measure.

Anti-Saloon league lobbyists have stated that they would force defeat of the sub-amendment and secure passage of the Matheson bill, slightly amended. Failure to pass this measure would throw the wets into the state affairs committee, back to its original status at the beginning of the session.

Give Pers to State

Another important change is made in the section which provides that license fees must go to the state treasury. The change would require the prohibition commissioner to carry out his work.

Restrictions now in the Matheson bill against prescription of liquor in the maximum amount of a prescription to one pint every two days. The new law would amend the section to prohibit prescription of more than a pint of beer by a physician.

Other saloon bills provided for the original saloon bill, provide that congressional regulations supersede those of Wisconsin and that when an officer takes any property it must be with a warrant authorizing the seizure. The law would be amended so that it will be required if illegally taken.

The section regarding taking of testimony is badly removed, and several other sections radically changed.

The senate which has been regarded as overwhelmingly dry, will be the battle ground of the prohibition fight according to present indications.

Rush D. Simmons, who is appointed chief postal inspector by Postmaster Will H. Hays is a former Janesville man, having been employed at one time on the staff of the Janesville Gazette. He married Miss Nellie Harris, who is a sister of Mrs. William Brunson, 629 Milwaukee avenue.

He left Janesville 28 years ago and became assistant chief clerk in the railway mail service, located at Milwaukee. He was later sent to Colorado Springs as inspector for the post office department. He was transferred to Chicago where he was chief inspector in charge. A. E. Geimer, senior inspector, is now acting chief inspector.

New York.—Impressed by the account of the Joseph A. Elwell murder given at Buffalo Thursday by Roy Harris, former Gov. Whitman, in charge of the murder investigation, said Friday he was beginning to take more seriously Harris' alleged confession of complicity in the crime.

It was reported that Mr. Whitman was making an effort to have Harris brought here. Harris, arrested on a forgery charge, signed a statement that he and William Duncan, a friend, were hired with promise of $5,000 each to kill the turf man. He remained in the city after the arrest, but as "Mrs. Parichilli" employed them.

Detention of a New York woman, whose photograph was identified tentatively by Harris as that of "Mrs. Parichilli" was suggested to Mr. Whitman by the Buffalo district attorney, but Mr. Whitman decided to wait for further evidence before acting.

GRAIN GROWING STATES DIVIDED INTO 21 DISTRICTS

FARMERS IN CONFERENCE TO CHOOSE DIRECTORS OF MARKETING CORPORATION.

IS NATIONAL MOVE

Wisconsin in District No. 2; New Plan Adopted by Chicago Conference.

Chicago.—Grain growing states were divided Friday for election of temporary directors of the National Cooperative Grain Marketing corporation voted Thursday night by the farmers' conference here.

Directors named with the number of directors from each are: Washington, Oregon, Idaho and California, two directors; Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin, three; South Dakota, Nebraska and Colorado, three; Iowa, Texas, Kansas, two; Missouri, one; Oklahoma, one; Texas, one; Illinois, three; Indiana, one; Ohio, one; and Michigan, Kentucky, Maryland and Virginia, one among them.

Based on Grain Market.

Proportionation of directors to the grain growing states was made on the basis of grain marketed. Each director for each $50,000,000 worth, it was stated.

Recommendation has been made to the incoming board of the national corporation by the committee of 17 that the board represent and try to cooperate with all existing farm organizations interested in marketing.

J. H. Gustafson, Nebraska, told the conference.

Experts Unanimous Support.

Mr. Gustafson said he expected the national marketing corporation to receive splendid support from the grain growers of the country and that ultimately this support would be unanimous.

District number 2, which is composed of Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin, will be represented by J. A. Anderson, St. Paul; L. Burdick, Williston, N. D., and W. S. Shilling, Northfield, Minn.

Optional Pooling Fields.

Debate on the compulsory pooling field was held by the committee of 17 and other disputed points. The delegates busy until late Thursday night. All attempts to amend the optional pooling recommendation of the committee of 17 were voted down.

Third Cow Testing Ass'n. Formed in Outagamie Co.

Appleton.—The third cow testing association to be organized in Outagamie county was formed at a meeting here at the Grangeville Hotel. The new organization will be called the Grangeville Cow Testing association. Frank Reimer was named president of the association. A campaign to secure a large number of members one day's service a month was launched. Fifteen farmers who attended the meeting were made charter members. A resolution was passed that the association be an official tester.

RESTAURANT MILK FOUND TO TEST FAR BELOW PAR

A restaurant owner should be a little more careful about watering his milk.

C. E. Culver, secretary of the Rock County Farm Bureau, always orders milk when eating at one of the downtown hotels. He took a sample of the milk.

The sample was tested by H. E. Miller, official tester for the Farm Bureau and cow testing association. The state law requires that the milk contain at least three per cent butter fat. The sample obtained from the restaurant, tested by the state exactly one-eighth of one per cent butter fat, he announced.

Additional tests were made in restaurants Friday and will be continued.

The Farm Bureau officials declare that "watered milk" seriously affects the demand, subsequently affecting the farmers.

"More people would drink milk in cafes and restaurants if the law were obeyed," declared Mr. Miller after making the first test. "People dislike to order milk and get a big per cent colored water with just enough milk to color the glass and have a taste of milk taste."

HARDING CALLS IN RAIL EXPERTS

President Harding has plunged into the railway problem in real earnest, and has summoned a number of experts to the White House. Among those with whom he is now in conference are Edgar E. Clark, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, and R. M. Barton, chairman of the railroad labor board.

CARL'S COUP STIRS UP CABINET CRISIS

Premier Considers Stability of Government Endangered by Ex-Ruler's Act.

Budapest.—The Hungarian national assembly has adjourned until the afternoon of the 10th, after a session in which Premier Tarkany has conferred relative to the ministerial crisis, which has arisen as a result of the visit of former Emperor Charles to the country.

During Thursday's session of the assembly, an official note from the premier considered the stability of the government endangered, owing to the situation of certain ministers in connection with recent events.

Accusations Demand Facts.

Investigation of the circumstances surrounding the attempted return of former Emperor Charles to the Hungarian throne has been demanded at a meeting of assembly members of the national assembly.

One introduced recommending that the incident should be considered as closed, but it was defeated and there appeared little disposition to discuss the question of responsibility for the incident.

It appears that the anti-Carlists had confidential agents in the immediate vicinity of the former emperor while he was in this country and it is declared they have a list of men associated with Charles in his attempt to reestablish himself on the throne. The agents are now being urged their punishment on a charge of treason.

Princess Anastasia May Return to America

Athens.—Princess Anastasia, who is conversing from her recent illness, may go to America soon. It was originally intended that she would journey to England to undergo a second operation, but in view of the fact that Great Britain has not recognized King Constantine, it was feared the princess' husband, Prince Christopher, might possibly not be welcome. The princess is said to be unwilling to leave her husband. Her recovery is being retarded by attacks of nausea.

Coach Overturned But All Occupants Crawl Out Alive

Crashing Lamps and Windows Frighten Passengers—John Fisher, Brakeman, Most Seriously Injured—Man of 83 in Coach.

Eight persons were injured, one seriously, when two north-bound trains on the Chicago & Northwestern railway crashed in the yards at Five Points here at 6:30 Thursday night. One of the injured is a man 83 years of age. The fender of the impact, heard for blocks, hurled one of the wooden passenger coaches completely over on its side, threw another off its trucks and partly derailed a milk car. The injured are:

C. C. MURPHY, baggageman, Evansville; left arm slightly wrenched; went to his home.

L. CHULTZ, Milwaukee, traveling man; right arm and right leg bruised; back wrenched.

M. HALEY, Chicago, traveling salesman; right foot crushed and wrenched; knee skinned; body bruised.

J. J. KERR, Chicago, married, traveling salesman; right hand sprained, back badly wrenched; hole torn in right leg; bruised and skinned.

E. W. PERGANDE, Milwaukee, salesman; left foot sprained; body bruises.

MRS. M. SHUMAN, Minneapolis; back hurt. Extent of injuries not known. Has gone to Minneapolis.

Racing to make up seven minutes lost time, Train No. 529, Ald. J. J. Dulin, conductor, due here at 6:23, rushed up the heavy grade from the Afton cut to take the switch that the evening "Scoot," from Harvard to Evansville, 15 minutes late, was just at that moment crossing.

MILWAUKEE MAN SAYS ENGINEER "LOST HIS HEAD"

"From what I saw, the engineer of the train from Chicago lost his head completely," stated L. A. Schultz, district circulation manager of the Milwaukee Journal. "Head of the train, which was one of the 529 coaches, was on the train from Harvard." "I was on the train from Harvard," he said. "We were running 15 minutes late and had the right of way. Because of the delay, it was impossible to see the other train coming."

"We were so far ahead of the Chicago train that it would have been easy for the engineer of that train to stop in time to avoid hitting us. But instead he seemed to lose his head and came right on."

"I was tumbled around in the car and was mighty lucky that I did not get more injured than I am. My back pains me considerably now. I lost my traveling bag in the wreck and age somewhere and cannot find it."

KERR CRAWLS OUT OF LIGHTED CAR

"Everything happened so quickly, I don't know how it came," said J. J. Kerr, Chicago, one of the injured. "I found myself lying at the top of the car with my head against something and suffering pain. All of the seats from the other side of the car had fallen down on my side."

"The lamps were flaming and the glass breaking and falling. I smelled smoke and heard somebody yelling. But out those lights I managed to crawl out some way. I don't know how."

ONE SCARED PASSENGER

One traveling man, white to the gills, biting his nails in extreme nervousness, shakily said he thought his day had come when the terrible crash occurred.

No Statement Made.

Officials of the Northwestern refused to issue a statement. Alva L. Remmons, local agent, declared that he had instructions not to say anything.

Wounded Soldiers Arrive in Athens in Great Numbers, R. C. Aid Asked

Athens.—Wounded Greek soldiers are arriving in such numbers from the Smyrna and Bursa fronts that sanitary authorities are unable to care for them properly. Two thousand injured men arrived Thursday. Queen Sophia has appealed to the American Red Cross in Paris for nurses.

GREEK FORCES SUFFER SERIOUS REVERSE

GREA REVERSE resumed their advance in the Bursa sector of Asia Minor, according to Pavis.—Turkish nationalists have dispatched to the French foreign office.

Fears are entertained here for the safety of the entire Greek expeditionary force. The magnitude of the reverse suffered by the Greeks appears to be greater than first supposed. Six thousand wounded Greeks are said to be in hospitals in Bursa.

German Trade Activity

in China Is Increasing

Washington.—A noticeable increase of German trade activity in China is reported to the department of commerce by Commercial Attache

Arzoo, at Peking. Considerable quantities of German manufactured goods, including electrical machinery, dyes, iron, steel products and hardware, he said, are becoming factors in the Chinese market, while exporting of Chinese products through

German concerns also is being developed.

The second degree will be in charge of F. J. Smith and John McCue, and the third degree will be in charge of James Higgins, state deputy for the Knights of Columbus, and Walter Burke, past deputy.

Immediately following the ceremonies a banquet will be served in the dining hall by the women of St. Patrick's church. Rev. Dean Ryan will act as toastmaster, and former senator J. M. Riley of Fond du Lac, will be the chief speaker. A musical program will be given.

CLASS OPENS NEW FIGHT ON SLANG

Pupils of Miss Jessie Menzies' classes at the high school are putting over an anti-slang campaign, carrying it only in their class room. Any member of the class using slang during a recitation is forced to make an anti-slang poster. The plan is working well and other classes may soon take it up.

THE GIRL WHO HAD NO CHANCE

By Marion Rubincam

CHAPTER III.
THE GIRL WHO HAD NO CHANCE.
The commencement went off as such affairs do. It was a matter of proud interest to the family and friends of the graduates and to the girls and boys who took part in the exercises and who received their diplomas. To the rest of the audience, however, it was a mere day in an all too brief period of unalloyed joy for Ruth was the winner of the great prize of the school—a hundred dollars which was given to the one boy or girl whose scholarship showed the greatest promise. There were other and lesser prizes, but this one had inspired the girls of the Markham High School to burn up any amount of midnight oil. It was supposed to help defray the winner's expenses at college, but actually it had no other purpose than to give the graduate a little extra to receive it.

So there it was, Ruth's hand—the greatest honor that had ever come to her, the largest amount of money she had ever seen. Myra, who seemed still hurt by her little because of the incident with Ruth, the first to congratulate Ruth, then the coronation was over. "I'm so glad you got it," she said. "I knew you would, for no one else in the class deserved it as much as you."

Ruth said nothing, but kissed her even more for what she considered Myra's great unselfishness. Then, after the "exercises" were over, there was a general scattering for dinner—and a meeting again in the school assembly room where the graduation dinner was to take place. This large room has a little resemblance to the hall where the pupils had gathered for many years as the hands of willing workers could make it. Red, white and blue bunting was everywhere, flags had been borrowed from every home and great jars of June flowers made the whole place as gay and festive as anyone could wish. So Ruth and Myra, charmingly unsophisticated products of the small town no hall had ever been so magnificent.

Myra by this time was feeling quite nervous for having released Tina. "I shouldn't think you'd mind since you have such a lovely dress," Ruth answered, thinking she was consoling. She never glanced at her own frock—the graduation dress which was to last as "best" for a long time—but instead, took in all the details of Myra's expensive blue satin.

Myra fluffed out her golden hair, admiring the bustle of her dress. She turned and admired before the mirror of a girl. Ruth's eyes watched her. Ruth could buy heaps of clothes with your prize money," Myra suggested. "You ought to wear blue, it would bring out your eyes so."

NEWEST IDEA FOR THE BRIDESMAID

The chignon and lace frock has been suggested as a pretty model for the bridesmaids who will attend our brides of late spring and early summer. It is a simple model made of straight lines, the skirt lace forming the only adornment necessary. A chignon hat to match the chignon of the frock is a charming accessory. This may be made in the style of the pale shades which the bride may choose and the lace may be fitted to match or a cream shade may be used as here.

What Shall I Do?

Answered by VIRGINIA PAGE
A Love That Is Wasting
"Dear Miss Page—I love a young man who is the first of boys to friends to really understand me. A year ago he loved me but somehow I feel that he doesn't care so much for me as he did. He still tells me things about his work and so on, but it seems that he is slipping away. He is very nice to me when I am near him, but doesn't seek my company as he used to. Do you think there is still hope for me? How shall I let him know I love him? He claims not to like certain qualities in girls, and yet those same girls seem to attract him. What shall I do?—On the fence."

Do you know, I imagine that young man is just taking a little vacation. You are a mighty sweet girl and he probably loves you just as much as ever was down deep in his heart—but you are a bit serious-minded, aren't you? And he's just a naughty little boy for a while now, having his fling. Well, let him have it. Don't try to make him love you—it can't be done. Loves come to us all as a free-with gift, and can never, never be coerced.

Try not to care about the other girls; let him enjoy his fancied freedom a bit. Stolen sweets are sweet, you know, and when he begins to realize that you know he is stealing and don't care, the sweets will soon flatten out and grow stale. Let him know that you are having a bit of a fling yourself, and rather enjoying it. If he loves you, he will soon be back. Dear, more devoted than ever. And if he doesn't come back, you will know that it was only a fling on his part, and understanding, which he mistook for love—and you will have to try very bravely to forget and build new friendships. But I hope that won't be the case.

When a Caller Should Leave
"Dear Miss Page—Is it proper to let your boy friends stay until 11 o'clock in the morning when calling on you?—M. A. P."

Madison to Entertain Historical Association

Madison—The city of Madison and the state of Wisconsin will entertain the representatives of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association April 14, 15 and 16. An elaborate program of addresses and papers has been prepared. There will be five sessions, four of them held at the library of the state historical society and the University. The evening session on Thursday, April 14, by the Wisconsin Historical Association, will be held at the assembly chamber in the state capital. At that meeting:

FIRST AID TO THE SUB-DEBS' BEAUTY

Group of Castle school students playing "cage ball."

The time when the miss at finishing school tried to acquire grace and beauty by long hours in a beauty parlor and before her mirror is gone. Now she builds beauty by exercise and healthful living. The photo shows some of the fair athletes at Castle school, Perrytown, N. Y., playing "cage ball," introduced as a physical culture game.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married five years and after I married I realized I did not love my husband. I left him once and he persuaded me to come back to him. I am so unhappy I don't know what to do. I want to do what is right, but I think it is more sinful to live with a man you do not love than it is to leave him, don't you?
He is very good to me, but I can't love him. Any advice would be appreciated.
Y. K. W.

There are different standards of right and wrong, depending on environment and education. One person might be doing what he considered right, while another, with a more highly developed conscience, might condemn his act. My advice to you, therefore, is to consider your problem carefully and then decide as you yourself consider right.

If there are no children to consider it seems to me a separation would be more fair than to go on in marriage without love. Your husband is being cheated, since indifference is the reward he receives for his loyal love for you. In case of separation, he would suffer, of course, but in time he might learn to love another woman who would return his affection. When there are children, however, it seems to me unfair to take them away from a good father for selfish reasons.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a mother in much distress. I want to do the right thing and still not be too hard on my daughter.
There is a young man about 25 years of age who is no good, as he only lies around and lives on his widowed mother's income. She runs a hotel. Just because he is a good dancer and shows his nice ways to my daughter she will listen upon going with him, since she thinks she is of age to do what she pleases.

She will meet him at other places besides her home, while before she always had her friends call at her home. Now she is going all the time and we don't know where she is or with whom.
It breaks my heart to have her think I am only mean and go against her, while I am only trying to bring her up respectfully and for her own good.
It is not because she has no friends, for she has a very dear friend whom I know she lost because she goes with this other man. I am afraid she will lose her other friends, who are nice boys, if they know of it. Can you advise me what to do?

My daughter claims to treat her like a gentleman and as long as he is so with him. She says that as long as she behaves she doesn't care what people think about her reputation. BROKENHEARTED MOTHER.
Since your daughter is determined, I believe you should let her have her own way. Now that she is of age you really have no other alternative. Tell her that you will not oppose her any further and that you are willing she should entertain the young man in her home, just as she does her other friends. Tell her that you would rather have him call for her at her home than to have her run off and meet him. Perhaps the young man really loves your daughter and if he is given a chance will prove worthy of her. I do not blame you in the least for your attitude, but since you are helping your daughter just as well as the best of your defeat. Try to win back your daughter's confidence by looking at matters from her point of view.

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

DEAR JOE:
Do you think we ought to give the baby a college education? The question may sound a trifle previous considering that the little angel isn't quite six months old, but a child is an awful responsibility and it's better to think of these things too early than too late. Even if the early bird don't catch the worm, it's better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all.

The way I feel about it Joe is like this—suppose he grows up and we don't send him to college and he falls in love with a girl who's had the advantage of a college education, well then naturally in the human course of events here won't consider him mental enough for her and the poor boy's life will be ruined, at least for a while.

And then on the reverse suppose we do send him to college and he falls in love with a girl who has been home all her life and can hardly even pronounce such subjects as biology, pathology, astronomy, etc., much less hold a fluid conversation about them, well in that case he'll think she's not fit to think his thoughts and his life will again be temporarily ruined.

So I hardly know what to do Joe. It would be a blessing if everybody was equally ignorant when they met, like us two, and then what they didn't know wouldn't hurt them.

Speaking of college Joe, Hilma my Finnish maid wants to go to night school to learn to speak English. She only knows about three words and she's the only one can understand even those three. Well now I'd be the last one to put myself between anybody's education Joe, but still I don't want to stay home four nights a week with movies going to waste while she's out improving her brain. So I decided to compromise fifty cents on the dollar, and let her go two nights a week, and even that will be plenty to teach her to get fresh with me in a few weeks and ask for a raise every time she can't think of anything else to say.

Your loving wife,
Tessie.

RAIL RATE AND WAGE CUTS ARGUED

Harding Uses Influence to Bring About Lower Freight Charges.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington.—President Harding has begun to use the influence of his office to bring about, if possible, a reduction of freight rates at the same time as wages are cut on the railroad system.

Harding is not "officially" interfering or forcing his advice on the railroads, but he is influencing them in a subtle way. He is not questioning the right of the railroads or their employees, but nevertheless he is influencing them in a subtle way. He is not questioning the right of the railroads or their employees, but nevertheless he is influencing them in a subtle way.

Mr. Harding refers to his efforts modestly as merely seeking information. He is conferring daily with the railroad executives. The view of the railroads is that the reduction of freight rates is a dangerous move, but the president insists that it would be dangerous to reduce freight rates unless the railroads can cut their "operating expenses," which means, of course, wages.

To reduce wages would be a relatively simple task if there were not intervention in the question of wage cuts more vital to both the railroad executives and their men than the revision of the wage scale of this month or this year. It is the feeling of the railroads that the reduction of wages is a dangerous move, but the president insists that it would be dangerous to reduce freight rates unless the railroads can cut their "operating expenses," which means, of course, wages.

Is Delicate Problem President Harding has himself recognized the delicacy of the problem by his method of handling the railroads. He is insisting that now that the war is over each railroad system should deal with its own men, while the railroad executives are insisting that the reduction of wages is a dangerous move, but the president insists that it would be dangerous to reduce freight rates unless the railroads can cut their "operating expenses," which means, of course, wages.

There is a delicate problem in the ranks of labor as well as in the ranks of the railroad executives. Some labor leaders, notably those who are eager to have the American Federation of Labor take a leading part in handling the railroad labor problem, insist upon having the national agreement which was made by Mr. Hines maintained so that everything can be dealt with on a national basis. Other labor leaders are adopting what seems to the railroad executives a much more reasonable attitude, namely, the opinion that the railroads are entitled to that regional boards may be appointed as between railroads and workers in every section. Inside the railroad executives' groups are those who think that it is a fair compromise. Other executives of a more aggressive type such as General Atterbury of the Pennsylvania railroad, insist that the issue is clear—either the Pennsylvania railroad deals with its own employees through their spokesmen or it is being deprived of its inalienable rights.

Cuts Leaders in Struggle The president studiously avoided recognizing the brotherhoods as a whole, by calling the various leaders into conference singly. The president is anxious to have the disputants settle the issue themselves. He doesn't want the Harding administration to be put in the position of cutting wages. Wage cuts would be accepted by the representatives of the workers if the whole power of the brotherhoods were not threatened. The railroads are reluctant to propose wage cuts, and the workers are reluctant to accept wage cuts. The president is anxious to have the disputants settle the issue themselves. NEWS OF SOUTHERN WISCONSIN

ORFORDVILLE

[By Gazette Correspondent.] Orfordville.—Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Schrader escaped a second fire at their new residence which is just being completed. A few months ago their new bungalow, which had been completed but a short time, was entirely destroyed by fire of unknown origin, and similar fate came near overtaking them Monday night. Mrs. Schrader had been doing some woodwork during the afternoon Tuesday, and had left the saturated cloth lying in the window seat. Upon entering the house Wednesday morning it was discovered that the cloth had taken fire during the night, had been consumed and burned a hole several inches in diameter through the bottom of the window seat, where, presumably for lack of air, it had gone out without doing further damage.

Election in the village of Orfordville and in the town of Spring Valley went off quietly. There was no opposition to A. J. Fuller for village president. Mrs. A. C. Schrader tried titles for a place on the village board of trustees with J. B. Honeysuckle, the latter being an easy winner. Mrs. J. W. Wells, who was nominated by petition after the caucus nominee had ordered his name taken from the ballot, was defeated by C. O. Ness, the voters writing Mr. Ness' name. L. A. Myhre also was defeated. Mrs. L. A. Myhre secured the position of village clerk. Word has been received by friends here that T. H. Minard, a former resident of this section, died at his home near Stoughton, Minn., was for many years engaged in business in Orfordville.

Janesville Given Attention When Holman Presented Reasons for Hospital Here

Janesville presented its case to the commission having in charge the location of the hospitals for disabled soldiers provided for by Congress, at the meeting held in Washington. The case of Lucien O. Holman, who addressed the committee. Following him, Congressman Hays made a strong and impressive talk of five minutes. The committee evinced great interest in Janesville and questioned Mr. Holman for several minutes after the address. The committee has since written the Gazette that Mr. Holman made a powerful plea and was accorded the closest attention and interest in the Janesville proposition was well established.

Other Wisconsin Cities Heard
Congressman Hays, Lampert, Oshkosh, made a plea for a local hospital in that city. He also had a proposition to put forward. The Milwaukee Association of Commerce offered a site, which made no impression on the commission. Mr. Holman's address, sent to the Gazette by the Gazette's Washington correspondent, is as follows:

"The city of Janesville has a population of approximately twenty thousand. It is situated in the Rock River valley ninety miles northwest of the city of Chicago and almost exactly in the center, both of population and territory, of the Great Lakes district. 'Rock country,' of which the city of Janesville is the county seat, and the other counties of Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois which immediately surround it, constitute what is generally recognized as the richest agricultural section of the Central Northwest.

"The city of Janesville is a leading industrial center of the Central Northwest. It is the home of several nationally and internationally known and used products, the value of which annually amounts to from ten to fifteen million dollars.

Railroad Facilities.
"The city is served by the main lines of the Chicago & Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railways. It has direct rail connections with approximately eighteen states. Being almost exactly in the center of the territory of the Great Lakes district, it is accessible from any part of that district in not to exceed one day's travel. Because of the exceptional highways which prevail throughout the district, and because of the fact that the main highway crossing the district passes through Janesville, it is also especially accessible by automobile. The exceptional railroad facilities, and the fact that coal fields are situated within the district, make the securing of fuel and other supplies especially convenient.

"A comparison of population statistics for a period of years indicates that Janesville is a rapidly growing city. The forward-looking citizens have, not been unmindful of the necessity of promoting the civic welfare along with the increase of population and of industries. A comprehensive city plan has therefore been made, extensive park facilities have been provided for and the general health of the community is being cared for through municipal health services, adequate garbage disposal facilities, and a good supply of pure water.

In Forward-Looking.
"These general facts are presented to the commission for the purpose of showing that the city of Janesville is forward-looking, that it is a progressive and constantly growing city and that the citizens are awake to its needs. We do not believe that the commission would be interested in placing the proposed hospital in any other than a live community where the citizens are properly caring for the civic welfare and are anxious to proper improvements. These facts are in themselves a pledge on behalf of the citizens of Janesville to cooperate with the United States government in the event that this city should be selected as the location for the hospital. In making the conditions desirable and the institution a thoroughly successful one.

Land for Site.
"The Chamber of Commerce desires to present to the government a tract of land consisting of ninety acres. This tract of land is located on the northwest side of the city, on a gently sloping hill overlooking the beautiful Rock River valley for a distance of approximately two miles and overlooking almost the entire city of Janesville. It is adjacent to the most beautiful part of the city of Janesville, in the vicinity of the Country Club and golf links, near the aviation field and other proposed parks. It may be located on the map of the city now on file with the commission as being bounded by Oak Hill and Magnolia Avenues. It is convenient, accessible by automobile and by street car and is convenient also to electric lights, railway siding, sewer, and power connections. Whatever facilities or conveniences the Government may desire in connection with this site which do not now exist will be provided by the Chamber of Commerce.

"We invite the United States government to build the Great Lakes hospital in the city of Janesville because we believe that it is the strategic location for a hospital designed to serve that district and because we believe that the city of Janesville offers every other convenience desirable in connection with such a hospital. We invite the members of the commission to visit Janesville and to inspect the conditions and facilities and the site offered. We pledge to the commission and to the government the entire co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce and of the citizens of Janesville in whatever respect desired or necessary to make the hospital the finest and best possible.

"I present for the consumers' attention regulations from the City Council of Janesville and various other civic organizations, pledging to the Chamber of Commerce and the United States government, cooperation in making the hospital entirely successful. There is also a letter from Doctor Wayne A. Mann, Assistant Surgeon of the Public Health

"Eight years of stomach and liver trouble reduced me to a walking skeleton. My skin was dried up and as yellow as a twenty-dollar gold piece. 36,000 OWN STOCK IN GENERAL MOTORS Annual Report Shows Increase in Sales—Express Confidence for 1921.

There were 36,894 stock holders in the General Motors corporation at the end of 1920 according to the annual report copies of which were received in Janesville, Thursday. The net sales for the corporation for the year 1920 were $59,229,000, which was an increase of $57,642,910 over the sales of the preceding year.

The net income was $23,150,398, from which there was deducted $47,766,737 for federal taxes, investments, depreciation and the general housing plans of the corporation for its employees.

The net profits after deduction of charges for the last year were $15,385,521. In addition to the reductions, reserves previously set up were utilized, with a view of providing for all contingencies.

Express Confidence.
"The motor car business, in common with all other lines of manufacture, suffered acutely from conditions during the last four months of the year 1920," reads the report. "The demand for the corporation's product, which had been urgent during the first part of the year, was sharply curtailed in September."

"The inventories of the company were consequently cut more than $50,000,000."

"In the early months of the year 1920 there was promise of increasing annual sales and net profits," further reads the report of Pierre S. du Pont, president. "The volume of sales reached this expectation notwithstanding the sudden diminution of business during the latter quarter of 1920. The dullness of the latter months of 1920 has continued during the early months but during the time evidence that the year will show a substantial recovery and a reasonably satisfactory business, with foundation well laid for future prosperity."

Durant Still Director.

The executive committee of the General Motors is named as being Chairman Pierre S. du Pont, J. Army Haskell, who has inspected the Sampson plant here several times, A. P. Sloan, here on the recent visit of officials and John J. Raskob. William C. Durant, former president of the G. M. Co. until the Wall street crash, is still a member of the board of directors. The list of officers shows 13 vice presidents, with Thomas S. Merrill, secretary, M. L. Pressly, treasurer and Frank Turner, controller, all of whom are located in Detroit.

The net working capital of the G. M. Co. was increased from $20,566,855 in 1919 to $144,632,706 in 1920.

WOMAN INJURED BUT BABE UNHURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Jefferson—Mrs. William Meinel was seriously injured, while a child one year old which she held in her arms miraculously escaped without a scratch when a touring car driven by Claud Schimmel, Port Atkinson, crashed into the Ford sedan driven by William Meinel. The accident occurred at the corner of North Main and Darling streets. Mr. Schimmel was going in a southerly direction while Mr. Meinel proceeded in an easterly direction, intending to cross the road before the other car, when the latter struck him, throwing the car and its occupants onto the curb.

Mrs. Meinel is recovering. If you hear St. Olaf's you'll never forget it. Miss it however, and you'll forever regret it.

LAY BIG PLANS FOR CONVENTION HERE

Scores of Wisconsin Musicians to Gather First Week in May.

The Milton college glee club has been secured to give a concert in this city during the state music teachers' convention which will be held here the first week in May. The club will appear May 4. Plans are being made to have the convention a big affair. Musicians from all over the state will be here for the three days. Theodore Winkler, Shuboygan, one of the officials of the organization, in a letter to Supt. F. O. Holt says: "Our association works for the progress of the cause of music and especially of music education in our state. We stand for standardization of our profession for public school music in all its phases, including class instruction in instrumental as well as vocal music, for high school credit, for private music lessons, under certain conditions, and for making music accessible to the masses. We firmly believe music to be one of the greatest emotional, civilizing, uplifting and uplifting impulses in our lives. And it is not a luxury." He also stated that in all cities where the convention has been held, the result has been renewed musical activity for a long period in the schools, homes and clubs. Contests for all musicians, not necessarily members of the organization, will be a feature of the convention. Miss Anna Means of the school for the blind, is the local representative making arrangements for the convention.

Pittsburg, Kas. — Alexander M. Howat, president of the Kansas Miners union, and five other officials are on trial charged with contempt of court.

Eagles Elect 5 Delegates to Big Convention

As one of the features of a rousing meeting Thursday night, the local eagle of the Fraternal Order of Eagles elected five delegates to the 1921 state convention at Menasha, June 6-9. Balloting was heavy and close, the following being chosen for the trip: Michael Mulligan, Leo Lommarz, James Joyce, Thomas F. Abbott and Louis Brummond.

In deep appreciation of the good work done by George H. Esser in behalf of the Eagles' cause, both here and throughout the middle west, the lodge presented him with a beautiful gold badge as past worthy president. Mr. Esser, who served two and one-half years as president of the local order, is now the Eagles' state treasurer.

In a brief speech of acceptance, the past worthy president emphasized the point—if you have a friend, you owe it to him to get him to join the Eagles.

A class of three was initiated and plans were made for initiating a large convention class. May 12. There are already 14 on the waiting list to be initiated that night.

Mayor T. D. Welsh gave an address and a buffet luncheon and a dance arranged by the Ladies Auxiliary followed. An "P. O. D." cake, donated by John Eager, was won by Mrs. Scharfenberg.

STATE WOULD SEIZE MILWAUKEE CITY HALL TO PAY DEBT
Milwaukee. State officials attempted Wednesday to obtain a writ of execution against the city of Milwaukee enabling them to seize the city hall and sell it to collect a judgment of $15,711.15 to pay a judgment obtained against the city by the state.

The judgment was awarded on a suit brought by the state to collect interest on money collected by Milwaukee municipal courts for fines in state cases tried by them.

Attorney General Morone and State Treasurer Henry Johnson issued an ultimatum that unless the bill was paid by Wednesday night or an appeal taken from the circuit court decision awarding the judgment they would take steps to seize the building.

City Attorney Clifford Williams, on receiving the ultimatum, filed an appeal to the supreme court, which will delay the collection of the judgment.
